Ourselves

Introduction

THE production of this work was undertaken with a view to create a ripple of amusement from the examination of the sketches of the subjects displayed within these pages.

Our aim has been to portray the hobbies of our subjects in a humorous and friendly spirit, and we feel assured of its reception and appreciation in a kindly manner, accepting our efforts as a tribute to the generous co-operation of the subscribers to this work.

While many indulge in the same forms of pleasure and recreation, or are engaged in the same line of business or profession, no two sketches are similar, each drawing being executed from suggestions obtained through careful inquiry. Our mission is to arouse smiles (and occasional frowns) and although in this work we have bent all our energies to create the former, we must ask your kind indulgence should we in any way have given rise to the latter. Our work has been greatly delayed, much time having been consumed in obtaining photographs from which to make our sketches, most of them being furnished from the well-known studio of Gilbert & Bacon, to whom we are greatly indebted for the excellent likenesses supplied, their thorough knowledge of the style of picture required being of great assistance in our reproductions.

Great care has been bestowed in the preparation of the etchings used; that the widely known firm, The Beck Engraving Co., had the making of them speaks for their excellence. The paper used in this book was supplied by Wilkinson Bros. & Co., great care being taken to enable the printer to maintain the highest standard of work. The printing was done by Harper & Brother Company, no comment being necessary, their reputation for highly finished work being sufficient recommendation. The ink was specially made for us by The Queen City Printing Ink Co.

With apologies for the unavoidable delay in publication, also to any of our subscribers whom we have inadvertently treated with too much levity,

We beg to remain,
